New Bonus Bill Reported By McCumber in the Senate

Argument Made That Interest From War Loans Made to Foreign Governments Would Provide The Funds Necessary—Bill Will Slumber on Calendar For a Few Days.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, June 8.—Ignoring the suggestions from opponents that the treasury cannot stand a bonus drain, and hints from administration spokesmen that President Harding will veto the measure, Senator Porter J. McCumber, Republican, North Dakota, reported the long delayed and much discussed bonus bill to the senate today with a lengthy report favoring its passage.

The bill puts squarely up to the administration, the payment of a soldier's bonus from interest to be collected from the British, French and other war debts. McCumber cited funding operations of the treasury to show the government's financial condition is steadily improving.

The keynote of the senate finance committee's report was one of optimistic belief in the ultimate availability of foreign debt payments, and in the ultimate ability of the government to meet the bonus drain without recourse to further taxation.

The bill is expected to slumber on the senate calendar for a few days and then an effort will be made to displace the tariff and rush it to passage.

McCumber explained that the bill, a modification of that passed by the house, was intended to "correct the inequalities suffered by those who performed actual soldiers' duty and received meagre soldiers' wages," and excluded from its benefits "all those who were given commissions while performing merely clerical work in the departments." Its benefits were also limited to those below the grade of captain in the army or marine corps, and lieutenant in the navy, he stated.

In discussing the application of the foreign debt to the bonus, McCumber expressed the hope that the world war debt commission would make such progress toward refunding the demand obligations of foreign countries into long term obligations as to secure the latter "in the very near future" and render it possible for the foreign governments "to provide for the immediate payment of interest thereon," so that such interest "can be used toward defraying the expenses" of the bonus.

The budget recently presented to the house of commons provides for the installment of interest due the United States on the indebtedness of Great Britain payable November 1922. McCumber pointed out, "In view of this fact it is believed that the United States can count on receiving in the payments from England from now on, such payments aggregating about $200,000,000 per annum."

The March 1922, revised estimates of receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, contained an estimate of $225,000,000 for interest on foreign obligations.

"This would be nearly three times the amount necessary to meet the obligations created by this bill for the first two years."

The highest cost the bill would impose would be $4,486,545,975, McCumber estimated, but only in the event if all the veterans should avail themselves of the 20-year endowment insurance certificate plan with its borrowing provision.

"But even if this was possible," he added, "the payments would be scattered over 40 or more years," his judgement being that many ex-service men would not actually apply for compensation until they required it, or for at least a number of years after the bill became a law.

The actual estimated cost of the various forms of compensation provided by the bill, he figured, however, at $3,848,659,431 on the basis that 75 per cent of the ex-service men would take the 20-year endowment insurance plan; 10 per cent farm home and land settlement aid; and 15 per cent vocational training. While but $16,000,000 would be needed to meet the provision for a cash bonus for only those entitled to $50 or less.

"The purpose of this bill," McCumber emphasized, "is to give the soldier who offered his service a compensation that will more nearly approach that of the laborer who remained at home, secure from danger and whose compensation increased from 200 to 300 per cent and measured by the amount of labor actually performed, a percentage far beyond those figures."

"During the war we paid our soldiers $30 per month or $1 per day. A fair estimate of the cost to the government for his maintenance and clothing would be about $2 per day. We might therefore say that the price a soldier received a compensation for his services equivalent to about $3 per day, which was very much less than that received by the lowest class of labor at home."

"Under the house bill and the bill as proposed by our committee," McCumber added, "an attempt has been made to reduce the actual cash payments during the next three years to the minimum because of the large funding problem facing the treasury."

"It is the opinion of your committee that during the next three year period, the payments under this bill can be made without additional taxation. It is hoped that by the end of the three year period the reduction in governmental expenditures plus the payment of interest upon foreign obligations, will be sufficient to obviate the imposition of additional taxation."

TREMAIN FINDS A LUSTY INFANT

Pleased to Find Rotary Club He Helped to Organize is Thriving—Talk on Candy Making With Distribution of Finished Product.

John F. Tremain, secretary of the State Prison Commission, spent several hours in Kingston on Wednesday and was the guest of the Kingston Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon. This was Mr. Tremain's first visit to the Kingston Rotary Club since the night it received its charter, more than seven years ago. He found that the "infant" had grown to creditable strength and size, and expressed himself accordingly. Mr. Tremain is secretary of the Albany Rotary Club.

The vocational talk was given by J. Edward Derrenbacher, who gave the Rotarians some "inside dope" on the candy manufacturing business, illustrating his talk by exhibiting specimens of candy in various stages of manufacture and distributing samples of the finished product.

It was announced that tickets for the dance at Roxmor on June 21 would be on sale at the luncheon next Wednesday.

A telegram conveying greetings from Arthur H. Wicks, who is attending the Los Angeles convention, was received by the president after the luncheon.

COUNTY COURT HAS ADJOURNED

County court was convened this morning at 10 o'clock and No. 17, Colonial Works, Inc., against Daniel J. Murphy, an action on promissory note, was announced settled. Newton H. Fessenden appeared for plaintiff and Gilbert F. Kennedy for defendant.

No. 18, an action brought by the New Jersey Paint Works, Inc., against Daniel J. Murphy to recover $700 for paint sold and delivered, was put over the term on payment of $25 and witness fees to be paid within ten days. Newton H. Fessenden appeared for plaintiff and Mr. Kennedy for defendant.

The mortgage foreclosure proceeding brought by Minnie Story and another as administratrix against Mary J. Dutcher, which was taken up Wednesday for trial, was taken from the jury and tried by the court. As the case is a matter of computations of sums of various amounts, the testimony was taken and decision reserved. John W. Eckert appeared for plaintiff and Judge William D. Brininger, Jr., for defendant.

There was no further business for the court today and the jurors were excused for the term and court adjourned to chambers.

K. H. S. GIRLS SCORINGS IN TEST

But One Point Separates First Three in State Physical Trials, Dorothy MacFadden Leading With 254.

The Kingston High School girls have obtained a "scoop" over the boys in that co-educational institution by having their names printed first in the reports of the New York state physical ability test in this locality. In the high school this test was conducted under the immediate supervision of Miss Seiner, girls physical director, and a summary of the contest follows. Dorothy MacFadden, a member of the freshman class, holds the record for having the highest number of individual points in the test with a total of 254. In this honor she was just one point better than Miss Mary Young, who was in turn only one point higher in the list than her opponent, Miss Carrie Carnright. This combination is a unique outgrowth for the local high school meets, for the three highest have only a difference of a single point in the summary.

Just what is the matter with the senior girls is a matter for considerable speculation, since they are not contented with having the freshmen trim at basketball but they even extended the courtesy far into the sports.

Following is a list of the girls holding the highest number of points, all exceeding 230 points:

1st, Dorothy MacFadden	254
2nd, Mary Young	253
3rd, Carrie Carnright	252
4th, Kathryn Terpening	249
5th, Sarah Periman	248
6th, Ida Hausbruck	244
7th, Olivia Daubler	234
8th, Edith Zimmerman	233
9th, Beatrice Arnovitz	232
10th, Caroline Van Keuren	232

In the fifty yard dash Miss Dorothy Muller was awarded first honors by accomplishing the sprint in 5 4-5 seconds, which is excellent time. Miss Lena Gasool seconded her with a running time of 6 seconds. The fifty yard dash:

1st, Dorothy Muller	5 4-5 sec.
2nd, Lena Gasool	6 sec.

Third, time, 6 1-5 seconds.

Carrie Carnright	6 1-5
Caroline Van Keuren	6 1-5
Ruth Burns	6 1-5
Marion Zimmerman	6 1-5
Dorothy MacFadden	6 1-5
Lavonola Hausbruck	6 1-5
Gertrude Rehr	6 1-5
Ruth Schmidt	6 1-5
Sarah Periman	6 1-5
Mary Bott	6 1-5
Olivia Daubler	6 1-5
Evelyn Clausen	6 1-5
Kathryn Terpening	6 1-5

In the run and catch race Dorothy MacFadden was successful, winning first place and in this event she was just one fifth of a second better than Miss Marion Zimmerman who finished up with 18 seconds running time.

1st—Dorothy MacFadden, 17 4-5 seconds.

2nd—Edith Zimmerman, 18 seconds.

3rd—Sarah Periman, 18 2-5 seconds.

Miss Carnright won the basketball far throw with a total of 59 feet 6 inches. The summary:

1st—Carrie Carnright, 59 feet 6 inches.

2nd—Clara Satterlee, 59 feet.

3rd—Mary Young, 56 feet 2 inches.

COHOES ELKS WIN RITUALIST HONOR

Kingston Team Gets Special Award of $50—Closing Events of Big Convention at Syracuse.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Syracuse, June 8.—The ritualistic contest at the tenth annual Elks' state convention Tuesday night was won by Cohoes with 86 points. Freeport was second with 66 points and Middletown third with 54. The excellence of the work of Dunkirk and Kingston, the other competitors, inspired a special award of $50 each by the state association. Utica withdrew as a competitor just before the contest.

The convention closed Wednesday with the installation of officers elected Monday and a parade, with thirty bands, in which more than 5,000 members of the marching clubs of sixteen lodges participated. The total number present at Wednesday's festivities was estimated at 10,000, representing a membership of more than 70,000. In sixty-eight of the seventy Elks lodges in the state.

Binghamton Lodge won first prize on points, with Utica second, Fulton third, Auburn fourth and Rochester fifth. Binghamton also had the tallest Elk, Oswego the shortest, Seneca Falls the best float and Norwich the best banner. Augustus L. Heckler of New York won for being the oldest Elk in point of membership.

The business session directed the newly elected president to ask individual lodges to get in closer touch with tuberculosis sanatoriums in their counties for the benefit of members ill of the disease. An effort will be made to obtain a new constitution that will be uniform with all state associations.

Freeport, N. Y., extended an invitation for next year's convention, but decision was left with the trustees. Major George J. Winslow of Utica was installed as president for next year. Secretary and treasurer remain the same.

Dancing was provided for by massed bands on the pavement in two blocks of city streets, festooned with thousands of colored electric lights.

The next meeting will take place on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock at the Uptown Hebrew School. New members will be made welcome.

BIG MOTORBUS HIT METZGER'S SEDAN

A Chevrolet sedan owned by Emanuel Metzger of the Fredenburgh-Metzger Realty Company, was struck by the large autobus of Frank Farraro of the Saugerties-East Kingston-Kingston route, about 9:45 this morning, and damaged considerably.

The collision happened at the intersection of Pearl street and Clinton avenue. The Metzger sedan was in charge of Claude Markle, chauffeur, who was going south on Clinton avenue on his way to the residence of Mr. Metzger, 160 Albany avenue and was about to turn into Albany avenue at the right of the police standard when the big autobus with Mr. Farraro at the wheel came along from Saugerties on its way to the bus terminus at the Kingston Hotel, the route being through Pearl street.

According to a man who witnessed the collision both drivers, evidently saw one another and threw out the clutch on their cars seemingly thinking that the other would go by. Both were going slow and the big bus head-on struck the Sedan on the left side near the back door, pushing in the side, bending the rear hind wheel against the body and tearing off the mud guard and doing other damage. The sedan was pushed across the shale brick pavement to the sidewalk between two trees at the corner near the residence of Postmaster William C. DeWitt, a distance of several feet. Chauffeur Markle was not hurt. The Farraro bus was filled with passengers and as the bus hit the sedan head-on none of the passengers was injured. The damage to the autobus was little, it continuing on its trip shortly after the accident.

He has been in jail fifty-two times for preaching on the streets and always pleaded his own case. He speaks several languages and plays many instruments. While in Turkey visiting his sisters the Turks tried to kill him and he hid in a well for three days.

About midnight Wednesday police headquarters received a telephone call from No. 60 Flatbush avenue that there was a man loitering near the house. Officers Alex. Vredenburg and Sime Wood were sent and arrested John T. Condon.

This morning in police court City Judge Robert G. Groves imposed a fine of $10 which was paid.

According to the police record Condon was arrested in May, 1920, when he had some trouble with his wife. The arrest was made by his brother-in-law, Herbert Smith. At that time Condon was ordered out of town.

Gray as a flour and feed storehouse.

SLASH DUE FOR RAILWAY CLERKS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, June 8.—Another slash in the prices of railroad employees was imminent today.

Members of the United States Railroad Labor Board went into executive session this morning to consider a reduction in the salaries of all the railway clerical forces. It was reported that the cut would be the largest yet made, exceeding even the $100,000,000 annual slash made from the wages of 1,200,000 other railroad men, made in two recent decisions.

The forthcoming decision of the board will affect all the members of the international brotherhood of railway and steamship clerks. Just now officials of the clerical union will take the cut should it come is problematical. The railroad workers are now actively balloting on the question of strike and the ballots are returnable June 30.

NEURO THOUGHT INSANE CONFINED AT COURT HOUSE

Officers DeCicco and McCullough of the town of Ulster brought to the court house Wednesday night a negro brickyard hand known as "Smoke," who acted as if insane. "Smoke" shouted most of the night and says he owns all the buildings in town, among them the court house. Two officers are keeping a vigil over him today when he will be examined by physicians as to his sanity.

After a lengthy hearing in police court before Special City Judge Robert G. Groves this morning John Mancuso, whose place of business is located at No. 31 Mill street, was held to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of assault in the second degree. Judge Groves fixed the amount of bail at $750 cash or a $2,000 bond. Charles J. Flanagan represented Mancuso while Judge W. D. Brininger, Jr., appeared for Masten, the complaining witness.

Four witnesses were examined at the hearing and testified that Mancuso struck Masten over the head with an iron bar.

Masten with another man had entered Mancuso's place of business on the evening of May 13, and the alleged assault followed. Hupmobile Finely Built

It is almost impossible to wear out the Hupmobile. The first Hupmobiles, built 12 and 13 years ago, are in use today, all over the world.

Owners, and those who buy in the used car markets, would tell you its depreciation is slower and smaller; that its price as a used car is proportionately higher.

Back of its longer life and rare economy, is, of course, the way the Hupmobile is built.

The fact is that many of its important parts are identical, in material and in manufacturing costs, with the same parts in the cars of the highest price; and Hupmobile shop practices are exceptionally fine and close.

MOBO AUTO SOAP

Oh! Jim—just like a NEW car!

You're right. I've been using Mobo Auto Soap for several months and it's given the car a new-like appearance. It is also protecting the varnish and preventing cracks and blisters. If I'd kept on using those ordinary free alkali soaps, I'd have had to repaint it long ago.

Mobo Soap is not only a varnish preservative—but a high-class soap which quickly cleanses running gear, body or top. Being a 100% pure vegetable-oil soap, Mobo preserves the finish on the car, keeping it elastic and preventing it from becoming dry, which causes cracking and blistering.

Try Mobo. Get a can today from the nearest dealer named below.

1 lb. 40c, 3 lbs. $1.00, 5 lbs. $1.50. Also in 10, 25 and 50 lb. cans and in Barrels.

CAUTION

1 lb. 40c, 3 lbs. $1.00, 5 lbs. $1.50. Also in 10, 25 and 50 lb. cans, and in barrels.

HIGH WOODS.

High Woods, June 7.—The Rev. Mr. Kerr of 114 Wall street will conduct divine worship at Mount Marion and High Woods next Sunday. Mount Marion, 10:30, standard time; High Woods, 3 p. m., new time. Subject of sermon: "Young life, and the pleasures that belong to it, and that should be enjoyed by it." The services of Sunday will be in the interest of the young, and all who want to be young. And to these a very urgent invitation is extended to be present at the services.

The Rev. and Mrs. Kerr are invited to take dinner with Elder Shader and family next Sunday.

The Rev. Mr. Kerr called on Elder Longendyke of High Woods Monday afternoon. Mr. Longendyke is in the Kingston City Hospital, convalescing from an operation.

WEST HURLEY.

West Hurley, June 7.—William S. Lee, the well-known building contractor of Staten Island, N. Y., and his three sons, Elbert, Edward and Howard motored to West Hurley on Saturday to visit their mother, who is convalescing at the home of Mrs. Mary Pieret. They returned home Monday.

Other guests who visited this place over the week-end were Miss Theresa Delvaux of Rutherford, N. Y.; Miss Madeline Leland of Rosebank, N. Y.; Miss Florence Macane of New York City; John Derrig of Brooklyn, N. Y.; William B. Morgan of Staten Island, N. Y.

FOR SUMMER WEAR

Silk Frocks Are Likely to Rival Costumes of Cotton.

Cape Dresses Are Found to Be Practical, Attractive and Suitable for Many Uses.

Taffeta, cotton crepes and geor-gettes are now the most interesting items occupying the interest of the dress and costume trade. Costumes assume greater importance each hour, especially in the frock and jacket or frock and cape, which are admirably suited for frock and sleeveless box or mandarin jacket combinations. Both women and misses exhibit marked interest in these adaptations, finding them both practical, attractive and suitable for many uses.

Some manufacturers are showing crepe in a number of frocks that are decidedly straight in lines. One frock has a cerise ribbon running through the pockets, around the square neck and down the front. Another marquise frock is shown in white and finished off in black, with trimming of black buttons.

The crepe costume is shown in solid colors as well as mixed, one model being in orange, having a green silk thread making a check. The green is repeated in the bindings of the neck and sleeves.

There is no denial that the threepiece frock is selling extremely well, and there is also a strong demand for

FROCK FOR THE AFTERNOON

A dainty spring frock for the afternoon is of pale blue voile, embroidered in white and affording color contrast through barbaric wooden beads.

BLOOMERS FOR THE KIDDIES

Wide Knee Garment Favored for Warm Weather Wear; They Are More Comfortable.

The mandarin influence on styles, noted in many of the spring suits for younger women, is credited with inspiration for a child's novel frock. Of course a wash fabric, such as linen, chambray and sateen, could be used for the outfit, but as originally designed Chinese yellow silk was employed for the major portions of frock and bloomers, with bands of self-fabric in Chinese blue and with touches of embroidery in a matching blue trimming it. The hat carries out the Chinese note in the fabric, color combination and general shape.

For warm weather wear there is quite a leaning to the wide knee bloom-ers for children, the argument being that they are more comfortable than those held at the knees by elastic bands. And one manufacturer has developed a clever little bloomer style dress so arranged that the bloomers button right into the dress. A waist or deep yoke must be a part of the frock, so that the band to which the bloomers are buttoned may be invisibly attached, but the idea is a very practical one.

The lineup of smart and dainty frocks for girls of 4 to 10 or 12 years seems unusually attractive this season.
Among the charming models recently seen may be mentioned a serviceable frock of blue and white gingham in a quarter-inch stripe with slightly inverted waist, the short skirt having inverted pleats at either side to give fullness and deep collar of white pique. Another was a straight line sport frock of red and white checked flannel, with white kid collar and cuffs and narrow white kid belt. A georgette party frock was fashioned on the lines of the little bishop frock generally worn by tiny babies. The dress was in white, trimmed with embroidered butterflies in various shades scattered over its entire surface.

Some buyers express the belief that there will be a great vogue this summer for the silk dress built on simple lines, rather than for the cotton frock.
Heavier types are thought to be the material most likely to be favored.
Boshaars and heavy cantons especially are believed best adapted to the straight lines and conservative styles of the times.

FABRICS ARE SELF-TRIMMING

Verity of Bordered Materials Solves Bathroom Problems in Making Smart Costumes.

The greatest possible variety of bordered materials appears in shops to help solve the trimming problem.
A white cotton bordered in black check might be used to fashion a Russian blouse and also a skirt to go with it, thus making up a smart little costume, or the blouse might be worn with separate all white skirts.

While fabrics having a woven-in or printed border, in silk, cotton and wool are available in sufficient variety to satisfy any taste, the woman who wants something wholly individual may take advantage of the vogue and embroider a border of her own designing on her skirt, blouse or frock.

A basket weave wool fabric having a woven-in border in contrasting color is used to make one of the fringed skirts. The material was raveled to form the actual fringe, a distinctive touch was given to the skirt by knot-ting strands of wool matching the border, so that the fringe was also a two-tone affair.

Specializing in Dresses.

Specializing in wedding dresses, as well as light-colored party frocks, one New York company has produced a line of dresses which introduce effective features. Satin and lace, combined in a manner well suited for the bride's dress, are featured, with all-over tulle effects as well as panels.
One model in flimsy fashion used chif-fon with silk Spanish lace, arranged in long scarf panels, with simple suits that gave this adjunct the appearance of a cape adding an elaborate feeling when worn with the bridal veil.

"Milestones."

There are several theories as to the origin of the name Milestan as applied to the Irish. One is that the country was first settled by colonists from the Island of Melos (modern Milo) in Greece; another that the name is derived from Milesius, an early conqueror, while still others claim the term is taken from the Latin "miles," a knight.

First Pilgrim to Die in America.
The first death among the Pilgrims after their arrival on the coast of America was that of Mrs. William Bradford, wife of William Bradford, who later was governor of the Pilgrim colony. Before a site was selected for a settlement and while the Mayflower was still riding at anchor in Cape Cod bay, Mrs. Bradford fell into the sea and was drowned.

Raisin Muffins.
To two well-beaten eggs add two tablespoons of sugar two tablespoons of butter, melted, one cup each of white flour and whole wheat flour stiff-ed with two rounding teaspoons of baking powder and one-half teaspoon of salt and one cup of milk. Beat well and stir in one cup of seeded raisins floured. Bake in greased gem pans in a hot oven twenty-five minutes.

Explains Salmon's Jump.
The bureau of fisheries says that the bottom of a fall there is usually a very deep well. The salmon swim to the extreme bottom of this well, and if they have sufficient depth of water to give force to get the power to jump, they do so by swimming very fast and rushing out. This force mechanically causes them to jump the falls.

Crickets.
The earliest mention of the game of cricket is in the writing of one John Derrick, who in 1393 wrote that "he and his fellows did runne and play at cricket." But in the Bodleian library at Oxford there is an old picture of a monk bowling a ball to another monk, who is about to strike it, and the date of that is 200 years earlier.

BOOKING GAMES FOR K. H. S. TEAMS

The central Hudson Valley inter-scholastic track meet will be held at Newburgh June 17, at which meet teams from Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Newburgh will compete for the sectional honors.

Mr. Herman, coach of track athletics at the local high school, reported Wednesday that he will place a team on the field against our rivals. The lads have been practicing diligently for the past six or seven weeks and if the work thus far shown continues something may be expected of them.

If the game between P. H. S. and K. H. S. for the championship of the central Hudson valley is played the same day the affair will assume a gala attire. Last spring at Washington Hollow, just outside of Poughkeepsie, the same kind of a meet was held with the baseball team from Kingston playing Poughkeepsie a protested game which the locals easily won, while a track team represented the school on the cinder path.

Kenneth LeFever has closed negotiations with Stuyvesant High School, of New York city, for a game to be played on the Kingston gridiron, Saturday, November 25. The contract which calls for a guarantee of $150 to be paid the visitors is the largest ever paid in the history of scholastic athletics in this city. One of the provisions called for the forfeiture of $50 to be paid by the Stuyvesant High School in event of their withdrawing from the contract.

Manager Oppenheimer, of the tennis team, is experiencing a great deal of trouble with his calendar of games, for it appears that no team feels desirous of competing with the locals, last season's record being a bit too much for them. In 1921 the local tennis team captained by Donald Mac Fadden won the Hudson Valley championship. Erasmus High has not been heard from lately in regards to the prospective match to be played here.

Weather Always With Us.

There are many who say that the seasons are changing, but a glance at a weather calendar shows that the "extraordinary weather" at mid summer is very ordinary indeed if we take long views of things. In January, 1662, Pepys noted in his diary that a fast day had been ordered by Parliament "to pray for more reasonable weather," it having hitherto been summer weather." In June, 1771, Swift wrote, "I have made a tour of my garden but once these days before eight at night, and then I thought I should have died of it. For how many years we shall have to talk of the summers of '57!" In 1880 July was so hot that Wordsworth could not sit indoors, and, as Dorothy tells us, "went into the wood and altered his poems."

The Unconventional Professor.

One of the most extraordinary examples of unconventionality in dress was Prof. F. W. Newman. He often clothed himself in onion fashion—three coats, one over the other, and the last one green. In winter weather he would wear trousers edged with six or eight inches of black leather. During that period of the year his favorite outer garment was a rug, with a hole in the middle for his head. But even this, Professor Newman's biographer notes, was not such a surprising vagary of public costume as that of another professor, very dreamy and absent-minded, who, being intent on making some abstract point clear to a young lady pupil, walked one evening round and round a London square with her, talking earnestly and attired in his top hat and dressing gown.—Manchester Guardian.

LAUGHING JACKASS

"I laugh in the morning and I laugh in the evening, and if I become excited in between times I laugh then too."

"My name is the Laughing Jackass or you can call me an enormous king-fisher bird if you like."

"Be sure you remember that I am enormous. In fact I am the largest of all the kingfisher birds."

"Of course I'm not huge like an elephant or any such creature, but I'm a very good-sized bird and I am the largest of all the kingfishers."

"That I've been told many and many times, and surely they would not tell me that if it were not true."

"They wouldn't flatter me, eh, no, no. Besides, I have traveled. I have just come here."

"Now the other birds, the ones were listening to the Laughing Jackass."

"Till at last," they said.

"I come from Australia which is very, very far away," the Laughing Jackass continued.

"And so I know I'm larger than other kingfishers because I've seen other birds, you know."

"Well, they knew I was a wonderful creature and so they thought they'd like to bring me to the zoo and let all the creatures come and see me."

"I mean people when I say creatures, but people are creatures, I'm sure."

"At least they're not things!"

"True," the other birds said. "True," the Jackass said. "Some day one came to the zoo the other day and this creature was a lady person. This lady said to the keeper in charge of all of us:

"Is it true that the Laughing Jackass will only laugh at sunrise and at sunset?"

"Yes," said the keeper quite truthfully, though he will laugh if he gets excited."

"Well," the lady said, "why does he only laugh at those times?"

"Don't you know," the keeper said, "I'm sure I don't know. I'm not a mind-reader and I don't understand what he means. He may have for what he does."

"But then the keeper explained that, of course, all birds, or almost all birds, sang or chattered more at sunrise and at sunset than at any other time."

"But I will tell you why I laugh in the morning and at night."

"It is true that it is partly because like other birds, or, like most other birds, these are the times of the day I find it comes most naturally to me to make a noise."

"But really my reasons are these: 'In the morning I laugh because I wake up so glorious a thing that another day is here."

"And in the evening I laugh because I think how fine it has been to have been here during another day, and to have known another day."

"Sometimes I get excited and my way of expressing myself is by laughing, as I've said."

"But do you blame me for laughing when the morning is here? Just suppose a day might forget and not appear! Wouldn't that be horrible?"

"I wonder if days ever have lost their way and have not come on time. I think that would be an awful thing to have happen."

"Days never lose their way and they never forget," said the other birds.

"I'm glad to be told that," said the Laughing Jackass, "but I am still going to be thankful as each day comes along to prove that the day has not forgotten its engagement with the world."

"Yes, I shall laugh, ha, ha, for I makes me feel merry and happy and gay. And in the evening I shall laugh for I shall feel merry and gay, having lived through another good old day!"

Torn to Pieces.

"When I fell out of the barn loft," boasted Bobby. "I had five stitches taken in my head."

"That's nothing," said Freddy. "The time I fell out of the window the doctor said, 'Where's your sewing machine?'"

GOOD EGG DISHES

Eggs all over the country have been reasonable in price and plentiful. As a food eggs are rich in nutriment and if liked may be prepared in many ways. Just as eggs. For the member of the family who needs eggs but does not care for them, it is necessary to mask them with other foods. A piece of sponge cake will be eaten by the child who will refuse eggs, as this cake is rich in eggs it is good and wholesome.

Spanish Eggs.—Take one-half can of tomato soup, mix with all the liquid and heat the tomatoes in a saucepan, seasoning with salt and cayenne, with a little chopped onion, and cook ten minutes. Then break in four eggs and stir with a fork until the eggs are cooked and have the consistency of scrambled eggs. Serve this immediately on rounds of buttered toast.

Supper Dish.—Spray slices of stale bread with butter, place in a baking dish, sprinkle each layer generously with cheese. Beat two eggs, add one cupful of milk, salt and paprika to season and pour over the bread. Bake in a moderate oven until the custard is set. More eggs and milk will be needed for a larger dish.

Macaroni and Eggs.—Cook macaroni of any kind until tender in boiling salted water. Drain and place in a well-buttered baking dish a layer of the cooked macaroni; over this put a layer of sliced hard cooked eggs, using five eggs for a dish serving six. Sprinkle with cheese, add a bit of onion juice or grated onion and then a layer of thick white sauce made by cooking together two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour and one cupful of rich milk. Repeat with more macaroni, cheese, egg and white sauce and finish the top with buttered crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven until well heated and the crumbs are brown.

Egg Lemonade.—Prepare the lemonade as usual and just before serving beat up one or two eggs, add to the pitcher of lemonade and beat well with an egg beater. This is a refreshing drink and a good way for those who do not like eggs to take them in an active form.

Provokes Parental Profanity.

An amusing comment on the quality of the government telephone service in Great Britain was recently made by an American woman temporarily residing in London with her husband and little boy. She said that, whenever her husband answered the telephone, or picked up the receiver to make a call, it was a household rule that she must without fail immediately entice her son out of the room and as far away as possible, in order that the boy might not hear her husband swear, as he inevitably would.

ONE CENT A WORD ADVS. BRING RESULTS

MEMORIAL SERVICE ON K. H. S. CAMPUS

Wednesday morning's memorial exercises at the high school were very impressive. At 9 o'clock the students gathered upon the campus about one of the trees planted in memory of the school's war dead. Mr. Dunbar led the students and the attendant public in the singing of "America." Among those present were Mrs. Arnet, mother of Aubrey Arnet who died in France, and Mrs. Joyce, mother of John J. Joyce who also died while going "over the top."

Dr. Boerker then introduced the speaker of the morning, Dr. Putnam Cady. Dr. Cady explained that just as is the tree capable of giving off elements used by mankind so does the gift of the dead boys diffuse about us a spiritual atmosphere and we are able to feel their presence, for they are not dead within us. It is sad that just at the outset of their lives their candles were snuffed out, but they gained immortality, even though their names be not known to the world at large.

Speaking of Miss Turner Dr. Cady declared that in no wise could anything better have been done, other than the trip to Europe, the Mediterranean, Egypt and the Holy Land so generously paid, for by loving friends, Miss Turner was happy, gloriously so and only lamented the fact that her powers of description were defied by the overwhelming beauty of all she beheld, since she was desirous of telling all of her friends of that which she saw. The larger part of Miss Turner's life was spent in Kingston teaching in old Ulster Academy and in the central high school. Thus, she is living in all the far corners of the earth, for the generations she taught can never forget her wise counsels, though their present homes be far removed from Kingston.

In a smaller scale, the memorial exercises were really as impressive as any held in Kingston. Those interested in the dead heroes and in Miss Turner may observe, by going upon the campus, the trees and the markers thus revering them. The trees which were obtained from the Amawalk Nurseries, ten miles east of Peekskill, Westchester county, were transported to this city in a truck furnished by the Board of Public Works. It was due to the indefatigable efforts of Henry D. Darrow that the truck was given for this purpose.

The whole movement was projected by the Conservation Club of the high school. Clarence Snyder, the president, strove to interest various people in his scheme and was successful. Mr. Murray, the local granite dealer near Elmendorf street, deserves a great deal of praise for his kind manner of marking the memorial stones and the placement thereof at no little expense to himself. Mr. Murray's representative who placed the markers was aided by Clarence Snyder to quite an extent.

The following contributions were noted for the perpetuation of the departed ones' memories:

H. H. Flemming, president of the board of education	$15
W. N. Gill, member of the board of education	15
Virgil B. Van Wagonen, member of the board of education	15
J. M. Herbert	15
Myron J. Michael, superintendent of schools	15
Junior class of high school	25
Samuel Messenger	1
E. S. Craft & Son	1
L. S. Winne & Co.	1
Stanley Gregory	1

Mrs. E. P. Steinhilber, mother of Leonard Woodrow, E. W. Hathaway, step-father of Geoffrey Strugnell, and Mrs. Eugene Arnet, mother of Aubrey Arnet, asked the privilege of being allowed to pay for the markers in memory of their respective dear ones. The request was granted. The cost of each marker was $4.30.

The boys who died in the World War were Aubrey Arnet, John J. Joyce, whose marker will be furnished by the Athletic Association of which Joyce was one time president and a three-letter man in school, Leonard Woodrow, Percy T. Keator, Ulysses French and Geoffrey Strugnell.

HOWARD KOCH GRADUATES FROM SAINT STEPHEN'S

The college students who have returned home are turning sorrowful eyes upon their high school friends who are still confined to their lessons. To date quite a few of the alumni are spending a brief respite at their homes, and among them are George S. Allen and Barensten Bishop, of Washington and Jefferson Universities, John Connelly, Dorr Monroe, Carroll Kearney and Adelbert Kuhlmann of Syracuse University and Miss Marie Ferrill of the Ithaca Conservatory of Music.

Howard Everard Koch who is at present attending Saint Stephen's College, Annandale-on-Hudson, is to be graduated from that institution Tuesday, June 13, 1922. Since his assumption of scholastic duties at Saint Stephen's Mr. Koch has received several prizes for scholastic achievements, has played on the tennis team regularly, is president of the 1922 graduating class and was elected editor-in-chief of the "Messenger" for the past year. At the time of his transfer from the high school to Saint Stephen's he was a member of the Junior class.

Tuesday, June 13, 1922 at 3:15 p. m. the corner stone of the new dormitory, now under construction, will be laid. The college has been in urgent need of the new edifice for quite a while and its erection and completion will mark a new era for the college, since it will accommodate quite an additional number of students. The $500,000 endowment fund for which the president, Bernard Iddins Bell, has been conducting an intensive drive is nearing materialization, with something like $350,000 having been obtained. The commencement exercises will begin promptly at 3:45 p. m.

Her Smile Was to Come Off.

One Sunday evening I went out with my best beau. We first went to the show and then for a walk. When we were about three blocks from his home we met his father. My beau tried to hide, but his father saw him and took him home. I followed, and when they came to his house, I stood there and listened to him yelling. The next day at school I made fun of him, but he only smiled and said sweetly that mine was coming, because his father had told my father.—Chicago Journal.

First Duty of the Poet.

Poets do not write for poets alone, but for men. Unless, therefore, we are advocates for that admiration which subsists upon ignorance, and that pleasure which arises from hearing what we do not understand, the poet must descend from his supposed height; and, in order to excite national sympathy, he must express himself as other men express themselves.—Wordsworth.

HIGHLAND.

Highland, June 7.—Weather conditions were not very favorable last Friday evening for a club meeting, yet the members did not seem to care if rain drops fell upon them, for they were aware that a good time awaited all who ventured out to the M. E. Church parlor. The Rev. and Mrs. F. A. Coons conducted the devotional part after which business was taken up. The subject of "Roast Beef Dinner" to be given by the club to the Masonic fraternity on Monday evening, June 12, in Louis Smith's garage. The president appointed her committees: Kitchen force, dining room force, meat carvers and ladies of the club to wait upon the fraternal members and guests of honor. The dinner to be served at 9 p. m. One new member was admitted to the ranks of the club, Miss Mildred Gedney. All reports were encouraging, and through the heated term not much will be taken up. In fact the president informed us that as many will be on their vacations through July, August and September, conditions will be such that a set-up will be in demand. All took advantage of it. The hostesses, Mesdames Smedes, Hitchcock, Gedney and Townsend served ice cream, home made cake and coffee to the delight of all, and with expressions of pleasure to these ladies, all left for their homes to meet in July at the home of Mrs. S. Sight of Fleets.

To the fish the surface of the water, seen from below, presents a circular window surrounded by mirrors, according to Edward Ringwood Hewitt, author of "Secrets of the Salmon." It seems that a fish can see out into the air only through a limited aperture; everywhere else the surface reflects the contents of the stream, or (if it be a shallow one) the bottom. This is because the light rays passing from water to air are bent, and when the angle of the light ray from the fish's eye with the vertical becomes great enough, it is bent backward so that it does not enter the air at all, but is directed downward toward the bottom.

Eagle Sometimes Ill-Omened.

The eagle is found on the royal arms of a great many civilized nations. Curiously enough, the eagle has often proved a bird of ill omen for nations who adopted him as their device; for in many cases they have risen to great power only to sustain terrible reverses: Rome conquered the world under the eagle-standards of her legions, and then crumbled into dust. Napoleon's eagles made him the terror of the world, till he fell more rapidly than he had risen. In the World War the eagles of Germany, Austria, Bulgaria, and Russia were brought low.

WHO'LL BOARD LITTLE GIRLS?

Two little girls, a bright lot of sixteen months and her big brown-eyed sister of six years are badly in need of a boarding home in or near Kingston! Who'll take these two children to board, giving them a home—for it should be well understood that a "boarding home," is not a means of "making money," but of "making a home," where either a parent or the county pays for the board of the children, thus lessening what might otherwise be too much of a burden. The father of the children loves them and is ready to pay for their board in a good home, which he realizes they need and he cannot give them and go to work and earn the money to support them. A Freeman reporter has seen the children and they certainly are very attractive children. So if there is anyone who wants to make their own home happier and give a home to these little girls, they should at once communicate with Miss Martha Davis, the county agent at her office, No. 74 John street, telephone No. 1632.

The other day this same reporter, with Miss Davis, visited some of the boarding homes out in the country and it was both a pleasure and a revelation. There were such happy children, in such pleasant, comfortable homey homes; and those caring for the children seemed so happy in mothering their little charges! Moreover it was interesting to see what an amount of careful consideration there is over placing children in boarding homes where the child and the home and the surroundings fit each other; such wise forethought as to the disposition of the child and that of the people in the homes! No wonder that it works out as well as it does in the homes visited!

Now heres' a chance for some one else to both give and receive a blessing!

D. OF A. MEMORIAL SERVICE AT HIGHLAND

Highland, June 7.—Sunday evening by request of state councilor of D. of A., a large delegation of members of both J. O. U. A. M. and D. of A. attended memorial service. In the M. E. Church. There was a splendid audience present. The church was nicely decorated with flowers, and the American flag was in great evidence. Richard E. Coon of Poughkeepsie was the speaker. He is well known as he has been here at different times. His talk was very interesting to all. The need of work in the home, the churches and societies and by observing the "Golden Rule" we could be helpful to friends and neighbors. We should all lend a hand whenever we have an opportunity, and if our hearts are filled with love toward all, there would be no room for bitterness, or ill will, or narrow-mindedness. Let all look for the beautiful in life, for there are so many things for us to appreciate and enjoy. He said out that we were living in wonderful times. Let everyone fall line. Insurance never helped the church or organizations or blessed the world. What we want is intelligence and refinement. The success of our army depends as much upon the training and discipline of the soldiers, as upon the ability of its officers, and in this lies the best proof of good generalship. Let us then in churches and fraternal orders get people of tact, gracious and loving ways, who would study the tastes, habits and opportunities of people and place them among the ranks of workers in these days of books, newspapers and multiplied facilities of all sorts. No one need remain ignorant. They always say "Heaven helps those who help themselves," and all could profit by the talk given last Sunday evening. The choir rendered patriotic music, and all in all it was a fraternal evening long to be remembered.

It costs a lot to live these days. More than it did of yore; But when you stop to think of it, It's worth a whole lot more.

Perfectly Plain.

VISITORS FURNISH
SOME OPPOSITION

Amsterdam Kaysees brought quite a team that went the way of the others 5 to 2—Colonials got theirs in 7th and 8th.

For six innings Wednesday at the Fair Grounds Miner Dietz, one of the best up-state twirlers, backed by a collection of stars wearing the uniform of the Amsterdam Knights of Columbus team, held the Colonials bay. But the strain proved too much for the Carpet City Club, and a whirlwind attack in the seventh and eighth innings gave the Colonials a 5 to 2 victory in one of the best played games of the season.

An error by Matty Deegan, giving the Kaysees two runs in the fourth, made the score 2 to 1 when the Colonials went to bat in the seventh frame. But this same Deegan sent a hot drive to left in this inning with two men on the bases, and aided by an error on the part of Catcher Fish, gave the Colonials two runs, enough to win the game.

Freddie Stout was Captain Schrick's selection to oppose Dietz, and Freddie did a good job of it. Five hits were all the up-staters could gather off his underhand shoots, and but for Deegan's misplay would have earned a shut out. Although Amsterdam had men on the bases in six of the nine innings, Freddie pulled himself out of every bad situation except in the fourth.

Bill McAuliffe was very much in the game although he wasn't in his usual position in the pitcher's box. Instead Bill cavorted around in the territory in left field, the injury to Leo Fitzgerald forcing Captain Schrick to switch Schwab to center and McAuliffe went to left. The new outfielder didn't get much of a chance to prove his ability in the field, but he came across with a hit in the first inning that sent Coyle over with Kingston's first tally.

Things looked bad for the Colonials in the opening frame, when the bases were filled with only one out. Fish, second man up in the inning, went to first when Stout failed to locate the plate for him. McGraw sent Fish along with a single to center, and McConvey, the first baseman who hits 'em a mile, was also presented with a pass, loading the sacks. Shilling, another of the Capital district semi-pro stars, hit a grounder to Deegan, who scooped it up forcing Deegan, at second, and Moore's throw to Coyle completed the double play.

Bobby Coyle, who has taken Fitzgerald's place as lead-off man, started the first inning by going down to first on a walk. Jack Robins sent him to second on a sacrifice and McAuliffe completed the job by driving him home with a hit to right.

The up-staters were finding Stout a hard man to hit, but went into the lead in the fourth. McConvey went to first on a walk for the second time and Shilling sent him along with a hit to center. Neidl went out on a fly to Glaser, but both McConvey and Shilling scored when Brucker's grounder got by Deegan. With Dietz going along in good style things didn't look very promising for the Colonials, but the big break came in the seventh. With one down Bobby Coyle reached first when Neidl missed his hit along third. Robins went out via the Dietz-McConvey route, but Dietz made trouble for himself by sending McAuliffe to first on four bad ones. Matty Deegan then came to the fore by driving a hot one to left, on which Pladel made a perfect throw to the plate to catch Coyle, but Pladel missed the bound and Coyle and McAuliffe came home with the second and third runs.

Dutch Glaser started things going in the eighth with a drive between Pladel and Brucker that netted him three sacks, the longest hit of the game. Moore kept up the attack by doubling to right, Glaser scoring on the hit. Freddie Stout couldn't get out of the way of one of Dietz's fast ones, and went down to first, Moore stealing third while Stout was at bat. When Stout went down to second on a steal Moore made a dash for home and beat the return to the plate.

A wonderful play by Dutch Glaser in the fifth was one of the fielding gems of the season. Neidl swung a hot grounder between third and short on which Dutch made a sensational gloved hand scoop while going at full tilt, then straightened up and got his man by a fine throw to Coyle. Dutch also contributed another fine play in the ninth, when with one man out and a man on first, Dietz sent a hot drive in the direction of third. Glaser made a nice catch, then shot the ball back to Coyle for a double play, putting an end to the game.

Mrs. Victoria Turek.

MRS. CADY TELLS OF RECENT TOUR

On Wednesday evening a large audience gathered at the Elmendorf Street Presbyterian Church to hear Mrs. Putnam Cady tell of her Mediterranean trip and it proved to be a thoroughly delightful evening to all present.

Of course, the talk was the more appreciated in that Dr. Cady introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Cady suggested that all present leave Kingston with her and then told what was of interest to all the home staying people in her audience, just how one gets started on such a trip, how the days and evenings were spent on shipboard, especially on board the good ship George Washington.

There were 668 in the party and Mrs. Cady described the day of sailing and the captain's dinner as the two gayest possible events.

Then she gave entertaining, intimate "snap shots" of many of the places visited, telling just the things that the average "lecturer" usually considers unimportant, but which count largely because of the common human interest.

The first stop was at the Azores, in the full freshness of spring with calla lilies and fresas, etc., growing wild. Mrs. Cady made mention of the fact that practically every part they were obliged to show their passports, while on previous cruises they had never been asked for their passports.

Madeira was the next port visited and from there they went to Cadiz, then to Gibraltar. They visited all of the galleries of the fortifications at Gibraltar. From time to time during her talk Mrs. Cady showed souvenirs in the way of lace, beads, silk scarfs, etc., etc. that she had brought from different places, a beautiful silk mantilla being her souvenir of Spain.

Making Naples their headquarters, the party visited Pompeii, Sorrento, Capri and, of course "The Blue Grotto."

From Naples the cruise went to Athens where the Acropolis was the center of the travelers' deepest interest.

Passing through the Dardanelles by daylight they reached the Black Sea about sunset. Then Mrs. Cady told of their visit to Beirut and the great Protestant college there as well as of the place itself.

Every bit of her description of the time passed in the Holy Land was full of interest. They went to Jerusalem from the port of Jaffa and then returned to the same port, from whence they journeyed to Alexandria being the first party of 36 to land in Cairo. From Cairo they went to Luxor and for four days they journeyed on the Nile very luxuriantly being fascinated with the sights they saw. They were at Luxor eight days, visiting the marvelous temples. While being immensely impressed with the tombs of the kings, Mrs. Cady was even more impressed with the tombs of the queens, and she realistically described one such tomb with its interior walls beautifully decorated with exquisitely colored pictures, giving the history of the queen whose tomb it was, the face being a portrait of the queen herself. As the Nile trip was the most eagerly pointed of the cruise, Mrs. Cady closed her talk with her description of that part of the trip and all present were sorry when she brought her talk to a close. After the talk, many of the audience enjoyed a "closeup" view of the souvenirs which Mrs. Cady brought home with her.

Early Church Utensils.

When our Puritan forefathers first began to pass the plate for contributions in the meeting house it was not a plate they passed in most places, but a brass warming pan. Into this the coins jingled cheerfully until someone decided that it was too cheerful and a long-handled wire corn popper was substituted. The artistically carved and velvet-lined plates used in many churches today are a recent adaptation. In the earliest colonial days no collection was taken at all and the salary of the parson was paid in pork and pumpkins, potatoes and peas, flour, dried apples and beans, with occasional "donation parties" that provided further luxuries. When church activities began to extend beyond the immediate parish it was necessary to collect coins, so the warming pan and the corn popper were both used to gather them up quickly.

Young Ambition.

A brown-haired, bright-eyed new boy, not more than nine years old, was in the midst of a heated argument with the news stand man when the Woman noticed them. The man couldn't understand just what the boy wanted, although he was explaining loudly in newsboy jargon that he was very definite about the matter. Presently the boy took the man by the arm and led him to his choice among all the magazines that were hung about the news box for display. The Woman wondered what it would be—Diamond Dick or Racy Stories. Without hesitation the boy pointed to his desired magazine. The Woman blinked and looked again. The cover under his small, slightly soiled index finger said, "What to Sell and How to Sell It."—Chicago Journal.

Who Awards Nobel Prizes?

The Nobel prize-winners are selected by the Swedish academy and the Norwegian storting, or parliament, four by the former and one by the latter. Nationality has nothing to do with the choice. During the short time that the prizes have been awarded the principal countries of Europe, as well as the United States, have been recognized by the selectors. The Peace prize is the one awarded by the Norwegian storting. Those whose duty it is to award these prizes of world-wide fame are naturally always on the lookout for works of merit in the various departments. But, no doubt, they have many claims for investigation from those who feel that their work entitles them to some consideration.

Let Advice Be Kindly.

Advice is like snow; the softer it falls, the longer it dwells upon, and the deeper it sinks into the mind.—Coleridge.

NO SIGNIFICANCE IN COLOR

Man Long Held by Horse Breeders Has Been Proved to Be Without Foundation.

For more years than a man can count men have felt suspicious of, if not unkindly toward, a horse with three white feet. There is an ancient rhyme which runs something like this:

One white foot, buy him;
Two white feet, try him;
Three white feet, deny him;
Four white feet, skin him and give him to the crows.

Not true; nothing in it; facts disprove it. A fair proportion of the fastest, strongest, toughest and most faithful horses have had and still have two, three and four white feet. Durbar II, a Derby winner a few years back, had three white feet.

Another deep-rooted prejudice concerns the color of horses. A gray has been generally esteemed as a tough and "staying" horse, and a black horse has been suspected of lack of stamina. A roan horse, either steel roan or strawberry roan, has always been sized up as a hardy horse. A dun horse was thought to be the last word in feebleness. A cream-colored horse was suspected of inability to go the pace, and a white horse, besides being hard to keep clean, was believed to be of delicate constitution. Bays, browns and sorrels have generally been judged on "points" and conformation, independent of the color question.

All this is wrong, according to experiments at a government station. A government bulletin has said that "The color of a horse is no indication of the real value of the animal and the statement cannot be made too emphatic that speed, intelligence, vigor and other good traits are inherited independently of color."

Diamonds Territory's Only Asset.

The territory known before the war as German Southwest Africa is of little value to the British, who have acquired it, inasmuch as it is mostly desert. It does, however, produce many diamonds, which are picked up in the sands along the coast.

The desert diamonds have evidently been disturbed by water and wind, and doubtless were brought from a not distant source by ancient and vanished rivers. Presumably they were originally derived from volcanic "pipes," like those which produce diamonds in the Kimberly field of South Africa. Experts are inclined to think that all of them came from a single pipe, because they are so much alike in quality, appearance and crystallization. In the Kimberly field the diamonds from no two pipes are alike. Accordingly, an anxious search is being made for the source of the stones. Pipes, a number of them, have been found, but, alas! none of them contains any diamonds.

MOUTH HOLDS FEW BACTERIA

Saliva and Mucous Action, It Is Announced, Work Quickly to Clear the Oral Cavity.

It has hitherto been assumed by pathologists that the bacteria which are known to lodge in the cavity of the mouth in seething masses are disease producing, and that they are always present to take advantage of any unfortunate lowering of the powers of resistance in the human body.

It has now been demonstrated by a professor at Johns Hopkins university that although the oral cavity has no elaborate system of hairy membranes like the nose and air passages, to rid it of bacteria and foreign particles, nevertheless it does the same thing by a mechanical action of the muscular structures around the mouth that set up suction currents which remove any bacteria or foreign particles from the mouth in from fifteen to thirty minutes. These suction currents carry the bacteria uniformly toward the rear of the mouth, without any lateral or forward dissemination, and pass them on without lodging on the tonsils or the walls of the pharynx.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

CORNWALL LAND OF FAIRIES

People of That English County Firmly Believe in Existence of the "Little People."

A Cornish handbook recently published mentions that there are five distinct varieties of fairies in Cornwall and enumerates them as follows: The "Small People" who were supposed to be the pre-Christian inhabitants; these are gradually fading away.

The "Spriggans," attached to cairns, cromlechs and other ancient monuments with which it was unlucky to meddle.

The "Piskies" full of mischief and finding great joy in leading mortals astray.

The "Buccas," spirits of the mines, associated in local legend with men from the East, doomed to work underground until the Resurrection.

The "Brownies" kindly and good, the spirits of the household, ever ready to do what they could to assist mankind.

There are numerous legends of the adventures of mortals with these fairies and only a few years ago men returning from Bodruth, Truro, Penzance and some other market town would turn their coats inside out before venturing to cross the wild moors or downs, in order to guard against being led away by the Piskies.

Once a miner, working in one of the levels, heard his name called distinctly. He was afraid to follow the voice and went on with his work. His name was called again and this time more vehemently. The miner threw down his hammer and went to investigate. Almost immediately a mass of rock fell on the spot where he had been working. The warning had saved his life.

The Buccas or Knockers were so feared at one time that people who had to pass a disused mine after dark took special precautions to prevent their presence being known.

Variation in Opinion

One woman was telling another about a birthday gift she had just given her husband, and how she had saved for weeks from her house money to get it. The other woman was shocked:

"Why Nettle how could you! I wouldn't dream of giving my husband a present out of his own money! I earned every cent for his Christmas gift, made kimono and dressing suits for some friends."

And a man who was near enough to overhear, said to his companion: "If I had a wife like that, I'd frame her."

"I wouldn't want her at any price. She's too good to be true. My old girl cheats me out of every cent she can lay her hands on. I'm used to it. It's one of the rules of the ring. Wouldn't want her to be different."

Which seems to show the variety of opinions—undoubtedly a wise dispensation of nature, since life would be somewhat monotonous if all of us were made in the same mold—like candles.—Washington Star

New Ideas for the State.

It is reported that a play entitled, "The Island of Monkeys," in which the players are all to be dressed in the guise of various sorts of apes is shortly to be produced in Milan, Italy. In view of Rostand's successful dramatization of the dwellers of a hamlet, one will wait until after the premiere to say that it can't be done. Then there was the operetta "Woodland," in which all the characters were birds. David Belasco's press department for some time nourished a rumor that the producer had in preparation a drama in which all the characters were insects. This manager secured very nearly as much publicity for this odd notion as William Gillette did for his persistently reported intention to play Hamlet. Dramatic editors in many cities devoted many columns to argument that the ideal impersonator of Sherlock Holmes would not make an even passable prince of Denmark.—Christian Science Monitor.

Business Girls Park High Shoes.

"Do you know the latest thing the girls are 'parking' in our office?" asked the office boy.

His mother, at home, couldn't guess.

"Their high shoes. The girls that live in the country have to wear high shoes to get through the snow and slush on the way to the train, but they can't afford to be seen in anything but low, French heeled pumps in town. It isn't being done. They bring in the pumps in a handbag without their mothers knowing it—I bet—and as soon as they take off their hats and coats off go the high shoes and on go the slippers. They have the glory of walking out at noon with them on and then they return to the high shoes at 5 o'clock.—New York Sun

Question of Jurisdiction

Judge Solon Carter, of Superior court, recently was called on to hear the divorce case of George vs. Martha Washington. When the combatants for matrimonial freedom arrived, they were colored folks. Judge Carter, with his fine sense of humor glanced at the complaint, smiled at the attorney for the plaintiff and said:

"George versus Martha Washington. I don't believe this court would have jurisdiction. Shouldn't this go to Virginia?"

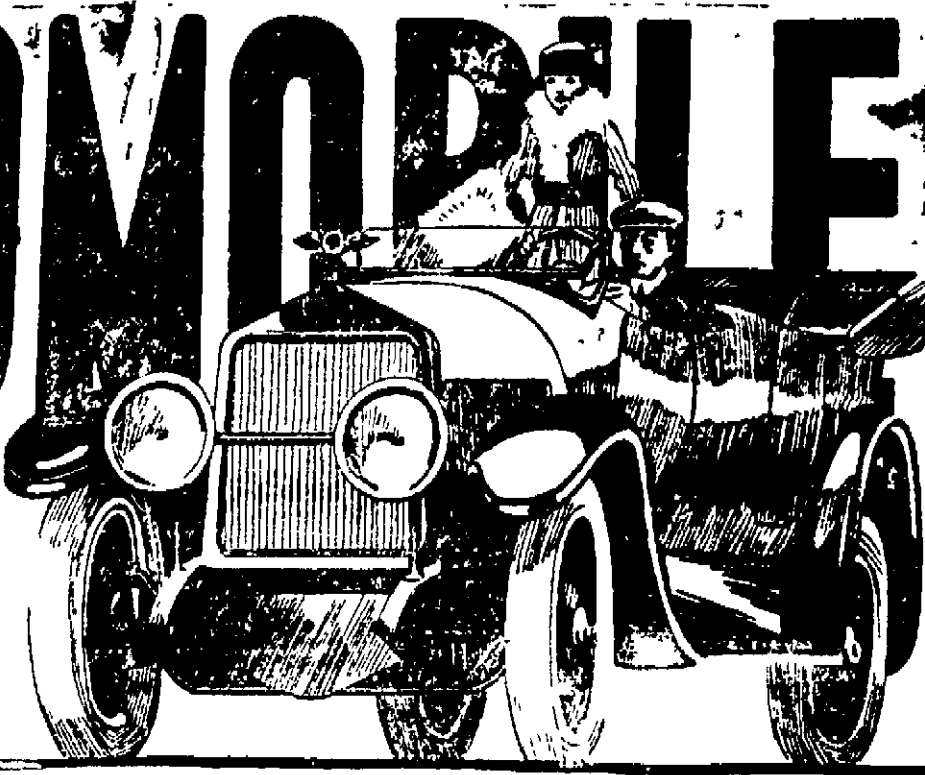

George Washington looked up at the judge, shook his head negatively and exclaimed:

"No judge not Virginia—she's from Indiana Avenue!"—Indianapolis News.

SCOUTING EXPERT STARTS SURVEY

Nobel P. Randel, Guest of Kiwanis Club—Division of County Into Five Districts Suggested.

Nobel P. Randel, regional field scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America, made his second visit to the Kiwanis club in six months at today's luncheon and made a very brief address to the participating members. He is beginning a survey of Ulster county to recommend how the club's collective energy may best be applied in the establishing of scouting on a firm basis.

The county's division into five districts immediately suggested itself to him, he announced, number one with headquarters at Highland, number two at Kingston, number three at Saugerties, number four at Ellenburg and number five at Phoenicia, to which latter place he went this afternoon. Orange county is the newest among the 22 scout organizations in New York and New Jersey, with 125 leading men in the county directing its prospects for a first class organization in this county are excellent.

There will be a meeting of the full committee on scouting named by Kiwanis at the office of Ward B. Everett on Fair street Monday evening at 7:15.

Secretary Van Valkenburgh made a short report on the convention of club presidents, trustees and secretaries held the other day at Albany. President Smith and Trustee John Mack also having been in attendance.

Morris Samter won today's attendance prize. Dennis Quilly donated it and Dennis also hailed for Father Hickey in the latter's absence with a blessing that was as short as the Van in space in the thermometer tube but as satisfying as the meal they served by the ladies of the "V".

Paul Hoenes is the new manager of the bill room and practice is in order both tonight and tomorrow night at 6 o'clock at Forsyth Park.

CLAN UNDER BAN

Effort to Extinguish Very Name of MacGregor.

Extraordinary Legislation Brought About by the Turbulence and Unruliness of the Victims.

Old Atholl MacGregor of MacGregor, who has just passed away at the age of eighty-six at Ard-Chollie, near Perth, had taken a very active part in organizing the impending celebration by the historic Scottish clan of MacGregor of the repeal just 100 years ago of the infamous law, unique of its kind, which forbade the use of the name of MacGregor in Scotland under the penalty of death. Henry Pickard writes in the Cincinnati Enquirer.

The MacGregors claim descent from Gregor, third son of Alpin, one of the Scottish kings of the eighth century. It is a clan which furnished Sir Walter Scott the hero of his most famous historical romance, "Rob Roy" (or "Red Rob")—a clan which on account of its turbulence and unruliness was subjected at the beginning of the seventeenth century to one of the most extraordinary pieces of legislation that is to be found in the annals of any of the civilized countries of the world. After a bloody battle between the MacGregors and the Colquhouns at Glen Fruin—that is to say, the Glen of Sorrow—which was characterized by the utmost ferocity, the victorious MacGregors putting all their adversaries to the sword, a law was enacted at Edinburgh, dated April 8, 1603, bearing the sign manual of James VI, of Scotland (James I. of Great Britain), wiping out the existence of the very name of MacGregor and decreeing the penalty of death for any one calling himself MacGregor. This law was subsequently confirmed by an act of parliament in 1617 at Edinburgh.

Another act of parliament in 1617 even went so far as to extend the penalty of death to any former MacGregors who should presume to assemble in greater numbers than four. In fact, every effort was made to blot out the clan of MacGregor, and thus transformed into outlaws, with the hand of every one against them, thousands of them were put to death, both by the sword and by the scaffold. On the restoration of Charles II, by reason of the services which the MacGregors had rendered under other names than their own, the various laws against the clan were annulled. But a few years later they were re-enacted and remained in force until less than 100 years ago—that is to say, until the early part of the nineteenth century. The MacGregors accepted extinction by assuming the names of the clans among which they had sought refuge. Some of the MacGregors came to America, and one of them achieved distinction as an American naval commander, known by the name of Commodore MacGregor, father of the American wife of Gen. Lord Abinger, third peer of his line.

Flowers Belong Together.

Sweet peas and mignonette should always grow together. Even the down-trodden everlasting pea (as Gerard calls it) with its large frank blossoms, has this year won its way to favor. That plant is in itself an epitome of all the sermons of the year with courage and constancy for their text. It is as good as a meditation by Jeremy Taylor. We were very grave about it last year, only a very little was permitted. It was denounced as too encroaching; and a quantity of it was ruthlessly cut away. We believed its humbleness to be secure. Not a bit of it! Never did it spread and flourish and flower more abundantly than it has done this summer. It ran round the corner of the house and made a blooming bow of itself in the shade under the east porch. It gave a rich, deep background for the white roses and blush roses to the south; it actually climbed up and looked in at the dining room windows, and nodded to us as we sat at breakfast. "Ty anis, et fy restu!" it said, as plain as words; and after all I had to confess its conquering beauty.—E. V. B. in "A Garden of Pleasure."

Feeling.

The teacher was giving a few general questions to test the intelligence of his pupils.

"How many races are there?" he asked.

"Two," replied a small boy, who had been feeling the cane some time previously.

"Two? Well, what are they?" "Please, sir, teachers and pupils."

"What do you mean, my lad, by saying teachers and pupils?" queried the teacher.

"Please, sir," was the reply, "the teachers are the 'canine' race, and the pupils are the 'feline' race."

Samples and Samples.

"Did you here that Blank was arrested?"

"That is news to me. I am astonished. For what was he arrested?"

"It is charged that he took home samples of the goods he was handling."

"Ah, so. Where was he working?"

"In a bank."

Endless Task.

"Why did you leave that Scotch regiment?"

"Couldn't get used to kilts."

"Heh?"

"I kept trying to pull the blamed things down."

Shakespearean Philosophy.

We defy augury; there is a special providence in the fall of a sparrow. If it be now, 'tis not to come; if it be not to come, it will be now; if it be not now, yet it will come; the readiness is all.—Shakespeare.

Mrs. Walter S. Ward. Forced by the court at White Plains, N. Y., to answer many questions she had refused to answer. Mrs. Walter S. Ward, wife of the millionaire banker who killed Clarence Peters, an ex-sailor, in an alleged blackmail fight, failed to clear up the mystery surrounding the case, especially as to why her wealthy husband had paid $30,000 to the blackmail gang. She was photographed as she left the grand jury room.

Peggy Marie Beall, nurse, of Springfield, Ill., and Dayton, O., shot and killed Frank W. Anderson in a Kansas City hotel and then attempted suicide, but she will recover. She declared he was to have married her, but she found he had not been divorced. Anderson was a major in the air service during the war and met Miss Beall, then an army nurse, in Dayton. "She called him the 'perfect lover,'" but said he had boasted to her that fifty women loved him. Anderson was a native of Collingswood, N. J.

Sheridan's famous horse, Winchester. For many years in the old Quartermaster Building on Governors Island, New York harbor, the chief object of interest was Winchester, the famous horse General Philip Sheridan, "dashing cavalry leader," rode in the Civil War. After his death, Winchester was "mounted," saddled and equipped as he was when General Sheridan saved the day by his twenty-mile gallop to re-form his shattered lines. Winchester has now been removed to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, after a fitting ceremony.

STRONG IN BODY

Men of Genius by No Means an Unhealthy Lot.

Lives of Many of the World's Greatest Men Show That Mental Power and Strength Go Together.

The popular idea that geniuses are usually physical weaklings or men of poor health is vigorously combated by Prof. Rudolph M. Binder of New York university. As a matter of fact, says Professor Binder, according to the New York Sun, it is only because there has been so much comment about the comparatively few physical weaklings who were geniuses that the tradition has grown that exceptional mental power and bodily weakness are related conditions.

Declaring his belief that there is no weakling genius who would not have been a greater one had he been of sound body, Professor Binder points out that most of the world's greatest geniuses were not only healthy, but often of more than ordinary physical strength.

"Illustrations of this could be extended indefinitely," said Professor Binder, "but it is necessary to mention only a few shining examples down the ages. Let's begin with Socrates. The great philosopher served as a hoplite, which means that he was a member of what we in modern terms would designate as shock troops. He was seventy years old when he was condemned to drink the hemlock.

"Coming down many centuries, Sir Isaac Newton lived to be eighty-five, and was strong and healthy and a hard worker till within a short time of his death. Darwin was born with a rugged constitution, which he ruined by his failure to care for it, but it enabled him to accomplish a remarkable amount of work before he died at the age of seventy-three.

"If proof were needed that Herbert Spencer was born with an iron constitution it would be provided by that incident of his boyhood when at the age of thirteen he walked 48 miles one day, 17 the second and 20 the third, and with very little food during the three days. Spencer is another man who injured his health by the lack of care of himself, but if he had not been naturally strong he would not have lived to be eighty-three.

"Even Shakespeare who died at fifty-two, might be said to have lived a good life considering the amount of work he did as playwright, actor and manager. Goethe, an exceedingly busy man, was in good health almost to the time of his death at eighty-three.

"Of the four probably most famous Italians Dante lived to be only fifty-eight, but his life was one of arduous labor; Leonardo da Vinci, an athlete who outstripped far younger men in feats of strength, was nearly sixty-seven; Michelangelo worked furiously most of his ninety years, and Galileo enjoyed good health till his death at seventy-eight.

"It was because the population as a whole was strong in body that Athens produced such a remarkable number of geniuses in the days of its glory, and if we want to increase the number of geniuses in the world today the way to accomplish it is to improve the health of all the people."

Flowers Unfold in Four Series. A flower is usually made up of four different kinds of parts, arranged in circles, or whorls, one within the other.

Outermost are the sepals, making up the calyx; they are usually firm and green. They protect the bud and steady the opened flower. Next comes the petals, making up the corolla; they are usually delicate and colored, often fragrant and often making nectar; they thus attract insect visitors, and they are also useful in protecting the even more important parts further in.

The third whorl consists of the red like stamens, whose heads or anthers make the golden yellow fertilizing dust or pollen. The innermost parts of the fourth tier are the carpels, which bear microscopic egg cells, each of which, if fertilized, will develop into an embryo plant; or, to put it in another way, the carpels bear possible seeds or ovaules, which become real seeds when the fertilizing golden dust penetrates into them.

How Rodents Spent Nights. Spying on the night habits of mice and other small rodents is now occupying the attention of Vernon Bailey of the Biological survey of the Department of Agriculture.

He lets some of them sleep on a sleeping porch and flashes a light on them at various times. Others spend the evening with him in the library. Another lot he has placed in a room at outdoor temperature so that he can find out how they hibernate for the winter.

Mr. Bailey is observing a bar in addition to 15 different kinds of rodents that he captured alive in Arizona last spring, and he also is studying his behaviors that live at the National Zoological park.

The Guest—Very pretty. Captain Kidd flew the skull and crossbones.

Still Survive. "I have one grudge against Noah." "What is that?" "He took a lot of old anecdotes into the ark."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

She Was Worth Much to Him. Following the marriage ceremony the groom called the minister aside and inquired the price of the service. "Well," said the minister, "you may pay me whatever it's worth to you."

"Be reasonable!" growled the groom. "This woman inherits a million dollars on her twenty-first birthday."—California Pelican.

Buttons and Personality.

One of those business psychologists—his specialty, we believe, is salesmanship—says that a man can be correctly judged by the third button of his waistcoat. If the button stands out as boldly as the other buttons he is the real thing; but if he caves in at this particular spot and the button is covered by wrinkles in his vest he is deficient in personality and pep and dynamics and all the other latest things that do be out.

We wonder if the psychologists are not fooling themselves a great deal. What becomes of this sure test of personality if the man has no waistcoat? We wonder whether Lincoln's third button stood out manfully or was obscured by the wrinkles which, if pictures of him can be depended upon, were a distinctive feature of his dress.—New Bedford Standard.

Have an Idea.

John Cienzo, Intl.

John Cienzo, under arrest in Philadelphia, was found to be suffering from two bullet wounds. He had a card of the Ward Baking Co. in his pocket, and the police suspected that he was one of the men shot by Walter S. Ward, the baker, in the mysterious fight he declares he had with a blackmailing gang. Cienzo refused to tell how he was wounded.

Half City, Half Desert.

On the Gulf of Aden is a spot of barren sand where a city springs up every winter and almost disappears in the summer. This place is called Berbera. A market is held there every winter and during the height of trading it becomes a city of rude huts and tents with a population of over 20,000. During the summer the place is deserted.

Seek to Bribe Ghosts.

A firm belief in ghosts prevails among the inhabitants of Central Africa. If a native believes that he is possessed of a ghost he goes to his local medicine man and asks him to expel it. One method the medicine man has of doing this is to prepare a meal, hoping that the food will tempt the ghost to leave the body of the man.
